

SWS 4303/5305 Soil Microbial Ecology Fall 2020

All sections of SWS4303/5305 will be on-line via Canvas for Fall 2020.

Course Description Lectures and laboratory exercises will cover the soil as a habitat for microorganisms, the taxonomy and biology of soil microorganisms, and the fundamentals of the microbial ecology of nutrient cycles, symbiotic associations, and bioremediation.

Students in the graduate course (SWS 5305) will be required to demonstrate a deeper understanding of fundamental concepts and details than is required of SWS 4303 students. SWS 5305 exams differ in content by at least 30% from SWS 4303 exams.

Course Learning Objectives: By the end of the course, students will be able to analyze the physiological bases for many of the microbial activities in soil, and translate those to ecological interactions and processes. Students will be able to discuss the fundamental physiology and ecology underlying many of the important biogeochemical cycles in soils, including the carbon, nitrogen, sulfur, and iron cycles. Students will also identify the appropriate methods for addressing fundamental questions in soil microbiology.

Current UF grading policies for assigning grade points:

<https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/grades.aspx> .

Basis for grades:Exams

- Based on lectures and assigned readings
- Combination of multiple choice, short answer, short essay.
- Closed book!
- Distance students: Exams will be administered with Proctor U
(<http://www.dce.ufl.edu/Data/Sites/29/media/proctoru-student-handout1---december-2013.pdf>) .

Optional Final Exam

The regularly scheduled final exam is optional and may be taken by students who are not satisfied with their exam average for the three regular exams. The optional final may replace the low exam, or it may be used as a makeup exam. For students who wish to replace a low exam grade, there will be no penalty: the top three grades of the four will be counted. The optional final will be cumulative.

Quizzes

Lecture Quizzes: Approximately 11 quizzes based on lecture material and assigned readings, and 8 quizzes based on laboratory material will be administered on-line throughout the semester. They are open book and may be taken up to two times.

Laboratory Problem Sets:

Three laboratory problem sets will be assigned throughout the semester. These problem sets require analysis of data and will ask questions related to general concepts.

Online Course Evaluation

Students are expected to provide feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing online evaluations at <https://evaluations.ufl.edu>. Evaluations are typically open during the last two or three of the semester, but students will be given specific times with they are open. Summary results of these assessments are available to students at <https://evaluations.ufl.edu/results/>.

Accommodations for Students with Disabilities

Students with disabilities requesting accommodations should first register with the Disability Resource Center (352-392-8565, www.dso.ufl.edu/drc/) by providing appropriate documentation. Once registered, students will receive an accommodation letter which must be presented to the instructor when requesting accommodation. Students with disabilities should follow this procedure as early as possible in the semester.
